

Archangel is the centre of allied military effort just at present, with small forces getting somewhat the worst of it in the struggle with a large Bolshevik army. This picture shows a military review in the public square of the town. American, British and French troops are represented.
American Red Cross Official; Copyright Press Illustrating.

Jacques Copeau of the French Theatre as George Washington in Percy Mackaye's new play to be produced February 17 to 22.

Photo by Arnold Genthe.

Mrs. Edward J. Gay, the wife of Senator Gay of Louisiana, is a charming new hostess in Senatorial circles at Washington. Her husband succeeded the late Senator Broussard.

Copyright, Clarendon; from Press Illustrating Service.

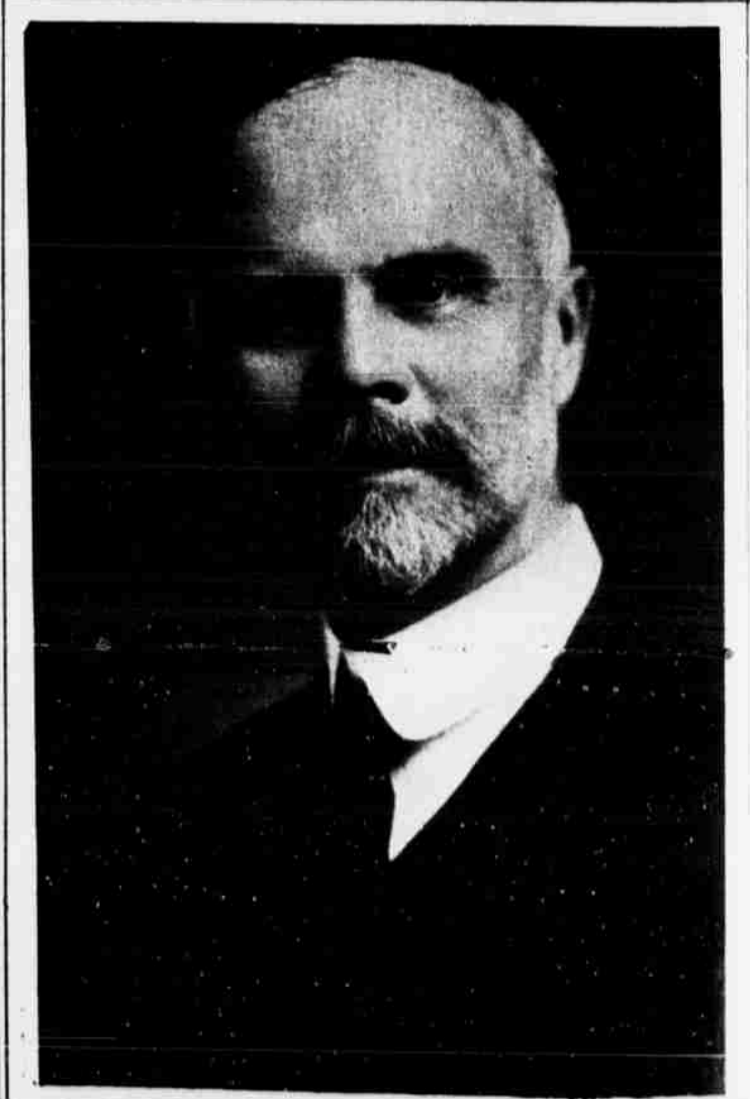

A painting of Laurence McGuire, former president of the Real Estate Board, which has been presented to the organization by the members.

Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of the former Prime Minister, and her fiance (right), Prince Bibesco of the Rumanian Legation in London.

At right—William Barclay Parsons, who built New York's first subways, and is now a Major-General of Engineers in France, is said to be Gov. Smith's choice to supervise construction of new tubes.

Photo, International Film Service.

Copyright, Press Illustrating Service.